

Dispute Resolution

To simplify procedures, the following flow chart has been developed to show the process for dispute resolution.

Clubs are incorporated associations in their own rights, with their own constitutions, and as such, the responsibility of resolving member conflicts within the club rests with the club and its members.

Prior to any action being taken by the Club Management Committee, the member should be given fair and timely warning that their actions are unacceptable. If disciplinary action is required, the following process is required.

